

Exercise: Explore cascading styles

1. If needed, open update.html in your editor and browser.
2. In the browser, observe that the "More Info" heading is green because of the external style sheet.
3. In your editor, go to the update.html file and add the following into the `<style>` container:

```
h2 { color: #f60; }
```

4. Save your changes and reload the page in your browser.
The heading is orange because the embedded style is more local than the conflicting rule in the external style sheet.
5. Change the rule as follows:

```
h2 { background-color: #fc6; }
```

5. Save your changes and reload the page in your browser.
The background color is now a light orange because this rule is closer than the conflicting style in the external style sheet.
